

Description for Datacard 14: Construction Industries

Total Names for This Data Card: 197666

Publisher's Introduction

This base includes civil engineers, trades men and their senior specifying and purchasing management teams engaged in all forms of construction as classified in this datacard.

Construction Work Area 15 SIC classifications – include general contractors, senior engineering management and consultants who are actively engaged in the construction of residential, industrial, commercial and other buildings, and general building contractors who combine a special trade with the contracting.

Construction Work Area 16 SIC classifications – include contractors and senior engineering management and establishments engaged in heavy construction such as highways, streets, bridges, sewers, railroads, irrigation and flood control projects, marine construction and special trade contractors primarily engaged in activities of a type that are clearly specialised to such heavy construction and are not normally performed on buildings, or building related projects. Specialised activities covered here include grading for highways and airport runways, guardrail construction, installation of highway signs, trenching, underwater rock removal, asphalt and concrete construction of roads and highways, street and public sidewalks.

Construction Work Area 17 SIC classifications – include special trade contractors and their senior management who undertake activities of a type that are specialised either to building construction to include work on mobile homes, or to both building and non-building projects. These activities include painting of bridges and traffic lanes, electrical work on bridges, powerlines and power plants, carpeting, plumbing, heating, air-conditioning, roofing and sheet metal work.

Architectural Services – architects having a minimum degree ARiba engaged in the design and enforcement of building regulations for residential, commercial and civil buildings.

Surveying Services – surveyors engaged in providing professional residential, commercial, civil building, land, water and aerial surveying services.

Construction work areas are representative of the major establishments and consultant engineers who work in or are contracted to these organisations.

Selection Available – work area, SIC classification, work place, work type, establishment size, gender, income, geographical by country or postcode, telephone, fax.

Source of Data – associations, strategic research.

Updating – continuously verified against source response, campaigns, goneaways, new names checked and suppressed against the Frankform ANDS system. Users are fully covered by our Guarantee and EC Data Licence.
